VISION

Most of pre-existing blockchain technologies are not truly decentralized, which is unnoticeable to most users. Even the user experience these days is terribly bad, hence making it hard for mass adoption. Hence, with my expertise, I like to find the loopholes in the existing systems and strive to make it truly decentralized, helping people understand its underlying value and make them onboard the web3 ecosystem and together we can build amazing things on it. As we all know community is the heart of any project building in the ecosystem.
